PRESENTATION

In the first bulletin of 2020, we say hello with good news. The "2020 Year of Accessibility" was declared as the "2020 Year of Accessibility" by our President, Mr. Recep Tayyip ERDOGAN, on January 9, 2020, in order to carry out accessibility works to be carried out by all institutions and organizations in a planned, programmed and in accordance with standards, speeding up applications, ensuring physical, digital and mental transformation in this field, and establishing a culture of accessibility.

In this context; The Circular No. 2020/1 has been issued by our President regarding the announcement of 2020 as the Year of Accessibility, and the necessary announcement has been made to all institutions and organizations in order to carry out the works and transactions required by legislation to carry out accessibility within the scope of the Circular in question, as well as to ensure the follow-up of these jobs and transactions.

Let's not forget "Accessibility is for everyone"

As a ministry, we support them by making various arrangements for disabled and their families. We monitor and encourage the employment of disabled people both in the public and private sectors. We make a disability assignment every year. For the first time in the world, we take the Handicapped Public Personnel Selection Exam for disabled people. This year, the exam will be held in April. Our disabled people who are in the test are settling in public institutions and institutions based on the points they receive.

We have implemented many mechanisms as a state in the process of gaining the education, employment and independent life skills of the disabled, and our work for new ones continues. We, as the Ministry, care about the right of education of all disabled people. Therefore, we are working at all the costs of our disabled people, including transportation, going to special education centers under the Ministry of National Education. We offer free service services, we care about the design of schools accordingly.

Our disabled brothers and sisters who need them receive services from special education and rehabilitation units. And we pay for this as a state. We also need to support the families of our disabled brothers and sisters. In Turkey, 517,000 severely disabled brothers receive home care support. As a ministry, we run the home support program, we provide financial support.

We carry out serious preventive and preventive studies on disability. After diagnosis, intervention-sized programs are developed. After early diagnosis, we develop very serious national programs at the point of minimizing and even eliminating the loss of education, rehabilitation and ability with the size of early intervention. In this context, we have work on the National Early Intervention Program.

We haven't forgotten the disabilities that were acquired afterwards. Today, the presence of divided roads in Turkey, socioeconomic development, reduced traffic accidents and work accidents are gradually reducing the rate of disability gained later.

It's home accidents that we want to draw a lot of attention to. Especially in-home accidents, our children are severely traumatized and permanent obstacles can occur. Again, from the point of view of the elderly, there are falls inside and outside the house. In this respect, we are trying to campaign very seriously on preventable accidents. We want the support of all public institutions and institutions here.

In order to support families with disabilities, we targeted the possibility of Day Life Center services in all provinces in 2020, which began service in some provinces in 2019. The transportation of disabled persons to day life centers is provided through our Provincial Directorates. Our citizens with disabilities can continue programs such as education, rehabilitation, skills and skills during the day. Thus, we support the daily lives of families with disabilities and contribute to rehabilitation programs for our disabled citizens.

The population is getting older in Turkey. That's why we're developing important programs for the elderly. The Elderly Support Program, which was implemented in order to facilitate their lives by performing the necessary care in the places where the elderly in need of bio-psychosocial care is carried out with the protection and support of the elderly, is implemented in 354 districts.

We want our disabled and elderly to live happily with their families.

Turkey Is the Leading Country in 2020 in The Quality of Disabled and Elderly Care

All public and private organizations providing care and rehabilitation services to disabled, elderly and care-free individuals will be subjected to regular on-site quality evaluation by the General Directorate of Disability and Elderly Services by 2020.

Family, Labor and Social Services Minister Zehra Zümürüt SELÇUK signed and enacted the "Directive on the Development and Evaluation of Quality in Disabled and Elderly Care Services" and all organizations will be subject to quality assessment and each organization will be scored in terms of quality.

Criteria for evaluating the quality of care services were created in our country. "Quality Standards in Care Services" prepared by the General Directorate of Disability and Elderly Services by academicians, field specialists and field workers with the participation and support of international developments are a first in this field; quality service is of great importance in terms of the assurance of the delivery.

Quality Standards Will Be Decisive for Care Organizations

These standards are; It covers official and private day-life centers, maintenance centers, nursing and rehabilitation centers, nursing homes, nursing home aged care and rehabilitation centers, and additional units connected to these organizations, additional units and home care support services that provide care and rehabilitation services to disabled, elderly and care-in-need individuals of all ages. A total of 1,028 care providers are available within the Ministry of Family, Labor and Social Services as of December 2019.

Contribution to Care Tourism

These standards also have important topics internationally by the World Health Organization. In addition, this study, which is also accepted internationally, is expected to contribute to "Disabled and elderly Care Tourism" in the coming period.

The placement of our young people who benefited from disabled and state protection in public institutions was realized with the participation of President ERDOĞAN and Minister SELÇUK

President Recep Tayyip ERDOGAN and Minister of Family, Labor and Social Services Zehra Zümrüt SELÇUK attended the ceremony to place our disabled citizens and young people who benefited from state protection in public institutions.

“Number of Disabled Officials Reached 56,500 People with 10 Times Increase ”

President ERDOGAN, Besiktas National Congress and Culture Center, said in a ceremony, 1304 disabled citizens have placed work in the public, the number of young people who grew up under state protection has reached 29 thousand since 2002. "The number of disabled civil servants in our country has increased by about 10 times compared to the period before us, reaching 56,500 people," he said.

ERDOĞAN stated that they never remain insensitive to disabled people during the 17-year tenure as a state, that they are always with them and will continue to be with them, "Today we are appointing 1561 more young people from every level of education. Thus, Turkey has once again demonstrated that it is a country that fulfills the requirements of being a social state. Like every individual living in this country, we take care of disabled people and our young people who grow up in state protection, and we are trying to prepare themselves for the best future."the point of building the best social security and health care system in the world. We have made special efforts to ensure that no one but the umbrella of the state in our country will remain."

"We increased from 2 billion pounds to 55 billion pounds"

Erdogan expressed that they increased the annual budget for social benefits from 2 billion pounds to 55 billion pounds, and in the last 17 years, 339 billion pounds of social assistance has been made, the share of social benefits in national income has increased from 0.3 percent to 1.2 percent.

ERDOĞAN disabled people and children under state protection, as well as women, the elderly, widows and orphans, relatives of martyrs and veterans expressed their care, as Turkey grows, enriches the resulting value to all citizens will continue to reflect after that, he said.

2020 'Year of Accessibility'

Erdogan, who expressed difficulty in even entering the areas where some houses are located, said: "Why? It's not accessible to him. That's what we need to make them accessible. It is also not right to conduct this process randomly, unplanned, unscheduled. Accessibility standards must be set and all institutions must carry out their work accordingly. For this purpose, it is necessary to declare 2020 as the 'year of accessibility'. With projects to be carried out, both physical access and digital transformation, most importantly, steps should be taken towards mental transformation. If there's no mental transformation, there's already an injury here. I would like to express in particular that I will personally follow this process as President."

"We will build strong families so that we can be a strong nation"

"Family institution is the backbone of our national existence," President ERDOGAN said. Otherwise, just as the collapsed body of the spine is paralyzed, it is inevitable that a family institution will be destroyed in a divided society. This is the biggest threat to Western societies today. The west is collapsing. Why? There's no such thing as family. But now he's threatening us, too.

When the family institution dissipates, the population begins to decline. Why do I say at least three kids? The reason I said that is because I'm not going to say it. Strong nations are made up of strong families. We're going to build strong families so we can be strong folks. For years, unfortunately, they had a policy of sterilization at the birth point. Why? For Turkey's population to be reduced. I would argue otherwise that our population should multiply, which is the backbone of the economy that we have studied in economics. If there are people, you are strong, if there are people, you are not strong, there is labor if there is human, there is capital if there is human, there is money, if there is human, there is production, there is consumption, there is no human being

Minister SELÇUK: "With the appointments we will make today, we will have placed approximately 3200 young people in positions and positions in public institutions from the beginning of 2019."

Family, Labor and Social Services Minister Zehra Zümrüt SELÇUK, speaking at the ceremony, said that a total of 1714 young people who grew up under state protection in May and September 2019 were employed in public institutions. "With the appointments we will make today, we will have placed approximately 3200 young people in positions and positions in public institutions starting in early 2019," SELÇUK said.

SELÇUK expressed that they witnessed the excitement of those who overcome obstacles with determination and the relic of the state, and underlined that they defended a community arrangement in which they could overcome obstacles in front of everyone and evaluate the potential they carry in the best way.

SELÇUK said that since 2002, under the leadership of President ERDOGAN, they have implemented revolutionary improvements in social services, social benefits and social security, which have been considered as three main elements under the umbrella of "social protection".

Stating that she came to receive education from Canakkale, visually impaired trainee Alev DUMAN said, "I am very happy that we are graduating here now, and I am a little sad because we will leave our teachers. I've learned a lot of things so far, for example, people who can't even go out, have human self-esteem, and I've got friends like me, we've learned very nice things on the computer, in the power plant, and in the same way that I've learned a lot of things That I didn't know how to make cake pouch before. I didn't have a social life because we were in the village environment, i didn't even have a social life, I couldn't even go to the market to buy bread right now, so it's okay that I can go to the market on my own and buy my clothes on my own.

My teachers are incredibly good. We have sisters who help us in the morning, they take great care of us in the morning, we have sisters who teach us a lot of things about bed correction, and when I go, I will recommend this place to our friends in Canakkale because our very nice place teachers are also valuable from each other. They're very interested in us, and it's a great honor and pride for us to pick us up and take us here. My dress was a Çanakkale-specific outfit, and they were fashion show. A local outfit is unique to Canakkale. I wore this today with the permission of my teachers. I said that there's a change in color," She said.

"When I got here, I learned about life"

Halil Ibrahim, a 20-year-old visually impaired trainee who stated that he socialized through the course, said, "I learned to fold clothes here, I learned how to clean. Thanks to this place, I learned to go out on the street. First, Thank God and then my teachers. Thanks to all my teachers, they worked hard. They tried. I started going out, I started discovering new friends. I've become friends. When I got here, I learned about life. May my Lord allow them to relieve their troubles in this world and the afterlife, thanks to our teachers here. He's very interested, teachers. The student is given a very good time," he said.

Family-Based National Early Intervention Program Development Workshop held in Ankara

The Workshop on The Development of a Family-Based National Early Intervention Program was held in Ankara in cooperation with the General Directorate of Disability and Elderly Services of the Ministry of Family, Labor and Social Services and UNICEF.

The Ministry of Family, Labour and Social Services has moved to prepare Turkey's first "Family-Based National Early Intervention Program", which aims to track and support infants and children with disabilities between the ages of 0 and 3 who are at risk of development from birth to adulthood.

Turkey's first "Family Based Early Intervention Program Development Workshop" was held in Ankara, which aims to monitor and support babies and children with disabilities between the ages of 0-3, who are at risk of development in cooperation with UNICEF and the General Directorate of Disability Elderly Services of the Ministry of Family, Labor and Social Services. Completed. The three-day workshop was held on 18 - 20 February.

The Social programs of the Ministry of Family, Labor and Social Services, the Ministry of Education's education support programs and the Ministry of Health's screening programs will be combined with a holistic approach, and an "early intervention system" is envisaged to monitor the development of infants and children and establish an "early intervention system".

In the short, medium and long term, it is aimed to create monitoring mechanisms to ensure that services for children 0-3 years old reach each child and their family, to ensure the welfare of children with disabilities and to increase inter-institutional cooperation in order to plan the services that should be provided at a later age. The workshop, organized in cooperation with the General Directorate of Disability and Elderly Services and UNICEF, will focus primarily on the current practices and legal infrastructure in this area, and areas of problems and solutions will be identified.

As a result of the workshop, monitoring and monitoring mechanisms to be determined mechanisms and services necessary to support children and their families whose development is at risk and have mild to medium-heavy disability will be determined.

As a result of the workshop, a roadmap will be put forward for the development of a holistic and systematic national early intervention program.

Mehmet Nezir GÜL, General Manager of Special Education and Guidance Services of the Ministry of National Education; He said the Ministry of National Education contributed to the "National Early Intervention Program Development Workshop" with education support programs.

Speaking at the Workshop on Developing a National Early Intervention Program based on family, James Gray, head of the UNICEF Department of Child Protection, said in a statement. "It is very important to include vulnerable children and to raise children's rights to a higher point in the most disadvantaged children's groups, in the name of the idea of not leaving anyone behind, which is one of the main elements of the Sustainable Development Goals.

In this context, moving the rights of children with disabilities to a higher point is an important part of UNICEF Turkey's current National Programme Document, while the next country programme, which starts next year, is also among the priorities. Early intervention for the family reinforces appropriate interaction and parenting skills, reducing the pressure on the family. It also helps to reduce social exclusion by strengthening the official and unofficial networks that support the family."

Re-evaluation and realization of these programs with a Holistic and Systematic Understanding is needed

Disabled and Elderly Services General Director Exp. Md. Orhan KOÇ, in the opening speech of the workshop; "Welcome to the "Workshop on The Development of a Family-Based National Early Intervention Programme" conducted by our Ministry in cooperation with UNICEF. As it is known, there are various early intervention programs being implemented in our country under the authority and responsibility of the Ministry of Health and Ministry of National Education.

However, these programs need to be re-evaluated and carried out with a holistic and systematic understanding. That's why today we have carried out the beginning of a national study where we will record different stages and developments in the issue of national early intervention.

It is defined as early intervention to prevent these disadvantages by identifying children of school age or younger, who are found to be at risk of development, who are found to be a developmental retardation, have special needs, school-age or younger children. Early education is a whole of services provided to prevent or minimize the limitations of disadvantaged infants and children in their physical, cognitive, emotional development in terms of physiological or environmental risk factors.

Family participation in early intervention is one of the most fundamental elements of the program. Each of the intervention programs is different in terms of the characteristics of children and their families to be included in the country, region, intervention program.

Even if they are included in the same early intervention program, there are individual differences in the needs of children and families. One of the factors in the success of the intervention program is that the program is planned to respond to accurate and individual needs.

Even if they are included in the same early intervention program, there are individual differences in the needs of children and families. One of the factors in the success of the intervention program is that the program is planned to respond to accurate and individual needs.

Examining programs that enable family participation and reach a large number of children and taking into account the factors that lead to success and the recommendations of program practitioners will guide a newly planned intervention program," he said.

Exp. Dr. Orhan KOÇ; The program, which will be prepared with a holistic approach in cooperation with the relevant ministries, universities and non-governmental organizations, envisages the establishment of an early intervention system in which measures will be taken not only for disabled children, but also in a wide range of measures leading to families, caregivers, households, neighborhoods and schools, as well as the establishment of an early intervention system in which the development of infants and children is identified and possible risks are identified. "The Three-Day National Early Intervention Program Development Workshop" was organized for the ministry to determine the roadmap for all of this.

Day Care Centers are Spreading Across the Country

In our country, which has been in the aging process in the last 10 years, the proportion of the elderly population in the total population reached the highest point in its history with 9.1% as of 2019. This demographic phenomenon requires steps to be taken to implement day time service models that are less costly for elderly care, which will allow elderly individuals to age actively without being separated from their social circles.

Taking into account our country's aging data, the Ministry of Family, Labor and Social Services cares about the implementation of various services in cooperation with local governments, NGOs and legal entities. Within this framework, a total of 161 elderly day care centers are active, including 30 Elderly Day Care Centers, 127 affiliated to municipalities and 3 affiliated to non-governmental organizations, 3 of which are affiliated with the Ministry of Ministry, 3 independent and 27 affiliated to organizations throughout the country to provide daytime services to elderly individuals.

It is aimed to improve the living environment of the elderly, help daily life activities and provide social, physical and psychological support services, especially through elderly day care centers, which are commissioned to support elderly people who cannot continue their home life alone, despite other support elements such as relatives alone or neighboring relatives.

Elderly day care centers, which allow healthy elderly people who live their lives at home with their family, relatives or alone to evaluate their free time, provide support services to the elderly, increase their activities and improve the quality of life of the elderly, especially with the issues they have difficulty meeting with their own means.

Model Organizations and Model Activities for Elderly Day Care in Aydın Germencik

Cooperation between the Ministry of Family, Labor and Social Services and the Aymelek Association on day care services for the elderly has been going on since 2012. As an example of civil society cooperation, the ministry has been providing day care and support services to the elderly in Aydın Efeler since then, when the "Aymelek Association Elderly Day Care Center", which was first opened in 2012 and embodied with cooperation with the protocol signed on May 30, 2014, has been providing day care and support to the elderly.

As a result of the cooperation between the Ministry of Family, Labour and Social Services and Aymelek Association, which was strengthened by the success of the first elderly day care center, the second elderly day care center was launched in December 2019 in Germencik district of Aydin province. Within the scope of the protocol signed on December 3rd, 2019, services are carried out on a voluntary basis by 20 women, five of whom are in the management staff, at Aymelek Association Germencik Elderly Day Care Center, which started its services and set an example in supporting voluntary work in the community.

Aymelek Association Germencik Elderly Day Care Center, which started its activities in six neighborhoods of Germencik District of Aydin in order to provide day care for the elderly, hosts 10 elderly people every 4 days a week. Serving more than 150 elderly people during the monthly period, the center offers quran reading, needle play, literacy development, live music activities, etc. in accordance with the demands and wishes of elderly guests. Aymelek Association Germencik Elderly Day Care Center, which is covered by the Ministry of Family, Labor and Social Services, expresses that the elderly guests who benefit from the service, expressing their satisfaction with the service offered and saying that this service model should be expanded in other districts.

PRIVATE SECTION FOR ACCESSIBILITY

Accessibility

Accessibility is for everyone

Accessibility is defined by our Ministry as "the ability of everyone to access and use them wherever they want and to any service, independently and securely". Ensuring accessibility is an essential condition for disabled people to sustain their daily lives and participate in social life. However, it is a requirement of great importance not only for the disabled, but also for an important group of populations who are experiencing limited mobility, such as elderly, pregnant, baby-driven and children. Accessibility, on the other hand, is a feature that ensures everyone's use of urban living spaces and services to society.

That's why "Accessibility is for Everyone"...

Accessibility, which comes up as an important and indispensable concept in achieving physical, social and cultural environment and taking advantage of the services offered in these environments, is also a prerequisite for benefiting from rights. The main requirement for individuals with disabilities to exercise their rights is that they can access the structured environment and the services offered first. Therefore, the accessibility of the structured environment allows individuals in different obstacle groups to use the environment in question.

Accessibility is one of the issues that directly affects the lives of individuals with disabilities, and if accessibility is not achieved, it is not possible to implement policies produced in the fields of health, education and employment.

In addition, many services offered to the public, especially in banking, health and education areas today have become electronic and can be used via the Internet. Information and communication technologies must also be accessible in order for disabled and elderly people to benefit independently and safely from these services and to take part in social life.

Accessibility Legislation in Our Country

In addition to being a party to international conventions to ensure accessibility in our country, many legal arrangements and administrative studies have been carried out. Our country is among the first countries to sign the Convention on The Rights of The Disabled (EHIS), but important steps have been taken for the implementation of the Convention in our country.

The first legal arrangement for accessibility was made in 1997 in the Zoning Act no. 3194. With the regulation, the provision states that "zoning plans must be followed by zoning plans for the disabled and the relevant standard of the Turkish Standards Institute in urban, social, technical infrastructure areas and structures." With this arrangement, the implementation of accessibility principles in new infrastructure and structures by relevant institutions and organizations with duties and responsibilities has been ruled.

The Law on The People with Disabilities (EHK), which came into force on 7/7/2005, includes important regulations on accessibility rights, among other rights. Under article 7 of the Law, the accessibility of the structured environment, private and public public transport and information services is covered under the heading "accessibility". With this article, it is emphasized that accessibility standards must be met in planning, design, construction, manufacturing, licensing and supervision processes in order to ensure the accessibility of disabled people in the environment built.

Serious responsibilities are imposed on public institutions and institutions by provisional Article 2 of the Law. The article stipulates that "all existing official structures belonging to public institutions and institutions, all existing roads, pavements, pedestrian crossings, open and green areas, sports areas and similar social and cultural infrastructure areas, as well as any structures built by real and legal persons and providing public service, shall be appropriate to the accessibility of disabled people within eight years from the date of entry into force of this Law".

In the continuation of the provisional Article 3 of the Law, there are provisions for ensuring accessibility of intercity passenger transportation, service and tourism transportation service.

In addition, article 3 of the Law includes the provisions of the monitoring and supervision of accessibility and the application of administrative fines for applications that are not accessible. Along with these provisions, a mechanism has been envisaged to oversee whether buildings, open spaces and public transport, which the Law stipulates to be accessible, are in compliance with the physical accessibility legislation, and a driving force has been created to speed up accessibility transformations.

Arrangements have been made regarding public buildings, open space and public transport services, as well as residential areas. With the regulation of The Condominium Law No. 634, facilitating provisions for the appropriate shape of structures that are not suitable for the use of disabled people and the implementation of project changes have come into force.

In addition to these Laws, the Metropolitan Municipality Law, municipal law and the Provincial Special Administration Law have provisions concerning individuals with disabilities. These provisions, which emphasize the need to use appropriate methods for individuals with disabilities in the service delivery, impose accessibility obligations on local government organizations.

In secondary level legislation, measures have been taken to implement the law regulations.

Planned Areas Zoning Regulation under The Zoning Law No. 3194, Regulation on The Zoning Of Unplanned Areas, Regulation on The Principles of Plan Construction, Car Park Regulation and Additional Regulation on The Principles of Shelters, and the Amendment made on 2/9/1999 in the Slum Law Implementation Regulation prepared in accordance with Article 36 of the Slum Law No. 775 contains various provisions regarding disability accessibility. In order to facilitate the lives of individuals with disabilities, Turkish standards (TSE) standards for disabled people have been obligated in the areas where such Regulations will be applied.

One of the basic regulations on accessibility and published on 20/7/2013, the "Accessibility Monitoring and Supervision Regulation" and the organization of commissions that will monitor and control accessibility in public transport, working procedures and principles, and administrative fine amounts that make income to the general budget are determined. With this Regulation, "Accessibility Monitoring and Supervision Commissions" were established within the governorships of the provinces under the chairmanship of the governor or deputy governor.

Commissions oversee the existing official structures, roads, pavements, pedestrian temporary, open and green areas, sports fields and similar social and cultural infrastructure areas belonging to public institutions and organizations, all kinds of structures built by real and legal persons and providing public service, and public transportation services that are offered or supervised by metropolitan municipalities and municipalities within the city.

In addition, the "Regulation on Making Intercity Passenger Transport Service and Service and Tourism Transportation Service Accessible" identified the obligations to intercity transportation service providers, travel agencies, highway break point and terminal operators, service providers, intercity transport and coastal facility operators, railway train operators and airline carriers and terminal operators on the highway. Within the scope of the regulation, the roads are related to the provision of accessibility in vehicles transporting passengers, services and tourism, sea and domestic water and vehicles serving on the railway.

The procedures and principles for making banking services suitable for access and use of disabled customers are determined by the "Regulation on the Accessibility of Banking Services". The regulation identified accessibility arrangements that should be made in ATM devices, branches, debit and credit cards, POS devices, internet banking and call centers.

On 10/10/2019, radio television upper board (RTÜK) issued "Regulation on Procedures and Principles concerning the Improvement of Access to Broadcasting Services of The Deaf, Hearing and Visually Impaired" by the Radio Television Upper Board (RTÜK) in order to determine the procedures and principles for improving access to broadcasting services of the hearing and visually impaired.

In order to use all kinds of structures and open spaces and public transport in the process of inspection of public transport, the Accessibility Monitoring and Supervisory Forms Circular no. 2016/7 has been published by our Ministry and commissions have been provided to carry out inspections by filling out forms. The work and procedures that must be carried out by the Commissions and the issues that must be respected in the implementation of administrative fines are determined by the Implementation of Administrative Fines and Other Considerations Circular to be issued within the scope of Provisional Article 3 of the Law No. 5378 no. 5378 no. 2017/4.

Erişilebilirlik Standartları

In national accessibility legislation, tse-prepared standards are cited for technical details on ensuring the accessibility of the environment. The phrase "accessibility standards" in Law of 5378 is understood as defined in article 3 of the same Law as "the standards published by the Institute of Turkish Standards regarding accessibility". The criteria and criteria for accessibility in the built-in environment are detailed in the relevant standards of the TSE.

TSE has developed standards for the accessibility of buildings and open spaces and standards for the use of transportation services by people with mobility restrictions. These published standards contribute to the design of accessible applications that individuals with disabilities or mobility disabilities can benefit from. Taking into account these standards in design and practice will greatly contribute to the independent and safe participation of disabled individuals in social life.

The standards published in our country regarding the accessibility of buildings and open spaces are as follows;

- TS 9111 Requirements for accessibility in buildings for disabled people and people with mobility limitations (Revision date 22/11/2011)
- TS 12576 Inner city roads - Structural measures for accessibility on pavements and pedestrian crossings and design rules of markings (Revision date 14/06/2012)
- TS ISO 23599 Auxiliary products for visually impaired or under-sighted - Palpable walking surface signs (14/06/2012)
- Complementary standard for the implementation of TS 13536 TS ISO 23599 (27/12/2012)
- TS EN 81-70 Elevators - Safety rules for construction and installation - Special applications for passenger and freight elevators - section 70: Accessibility for passenger lifts including disabled (21/06/2007)
- TS 13882 Classification rules of pedestrian walking surfaces – Basic requirements and evaluation methods (30/09/2019)

Following standards have been developed for the use of transportation services by TSE by people with mobility restrictions.

- TS 13622 Accessibility requirements on public transport systems for people with disabilities and mobility limitations (25.06.2014)
- TS ISO 23600 Assistable products for the visually impaired and the hearing impaired - Audible and palpable signals for pedestrian traffic lights (27.12.2012)
- TS 12460 Inner-city roads-rail transport systems section 5: Design rules on facilities for disabled and elderly (20.04.1998)
- TS 12694 Railway vehicles - Passenger cars - Car arrangements suitable for passengers travelling with wheelchairs (14.07.2011)
- TS ISO 23600 Assistable products for vision and hearing impaired - Pedestrian traffic lights - Audible warnings and feelable surfaces (12.04.2012)

For accessibility of Web pages, there is the Web Content Accessibility Guide/WCAG 2.1 standard. The Public Websites (CAMIS) Guide includes descriptions and examples that will make it easier to understand the information and scales contained in standards.

Accessibility Studies of the General Directorate of Disability and Elderly Services

In addition to the development of regulatory regulations and standards related to accessibility by the General Directorate of Disability and Elderly Services, projects and studies are also being carried out to support education and publication activities aimed at increasing the level of knowledge and awareness, as well as the application for the dissemination of accessibility. Efforts to provide social awareness for the implementation of accessibility legislation and to increase the level of knowledge and awareness of architects and engineers in particular are continuing in full swing. In addition, technical information support to public institutions and organizations, universities and other relevant organizations is provided continuously if requested from the General Directorate.

2020 Year of Accessibility

The "2020 Year of Accessibility" was declared as the "2020 Year of Accessibility" by our President, Mr. Recep Tayyip ERDOGAN, on January 9th, 2020, in order to carry out accessibility works to be carried out by all institutions and organizations in a planned, programmed and in accordance with standards, speeding up applications, ensuring physical, digital and mental transformation in this field, and establishing a culture of accessibility.

In this context; The Circular No. 2020/1 has been issued by our President regarding the announcement of 2020 as the Year of Accessibility, and the necessary announcement has been made to all institutions and organizations in order to carry out the works and transactions required by legislation to carry out accessibility within the scope of the Circular in question, as well as to ensure the follow-up of these jobs and transactions.

Accessibility Support Projects (ERDEP)

In buildings such as schools, municipal service buildings, government mansions, hospitals designated in different provinces since 2012 within the scope of Accessibility Support Projects (ERDEP), which aims to promote accessibility throughout the city and country through the governorships and with the financial and technical information support of our General Directorate, and to promote accessibility throughout the city and country, for pilot areas with different urban uses; examples of pilot applications have been implemented in open areas such as sidewalks, stops and pedestrian crossings. While these projects are for application purposes, projects provide an increase in knowledge and awareness level and to promote accessibility.

Training and Broadcasting Activities

Since 2011, approximately 12,000 technical personnel and managers working in municipalities, public institutions and institutions have been given accessibility training. "Accessible Universities Seminars", which are organized regionally and attended by approximately 500 university employees, are important studies aimed at increasing the level of knowledge and awareness. Training activities are continuing in full swing.

Brochures prepared to draw attention to accessibility, raise awareness and prevent social and cultural barriers created by citizens and ensure the accessibility of the disabled are reproduced and delivered to citizens.

Accessibility Assessment Module

The preparation of the Accessibility Assessment Module (ERDEM), which is also included in the 180-Day Action Plan, has been completed and made available. With ERDEM, a formula that will ensure that what needs to be done in buildings is provided as a report and encourages accessibility certificates, anyone who wants to access the module via the ministry web page will be able to answer the questions in the module in the form of self-assessment and thus provide what needs to be done to make a building accessible as a report.

Budget Code

A reminder letter is sent to all Ministries and related institutions each year regarding "Granting Accessibility Allowance" during the budget preparation period. In addition, at the request of our Ministry of Treasury and Finance, the fourth level of functional classification in order to monitor the expenditures related to accessibility "10.1.2.05 Expenses to Ensure the Accessibility of Disabled Persons" code was opened and started to be used for the first time by public institutions and organizations within the scope of preparations for the 2018 budget.

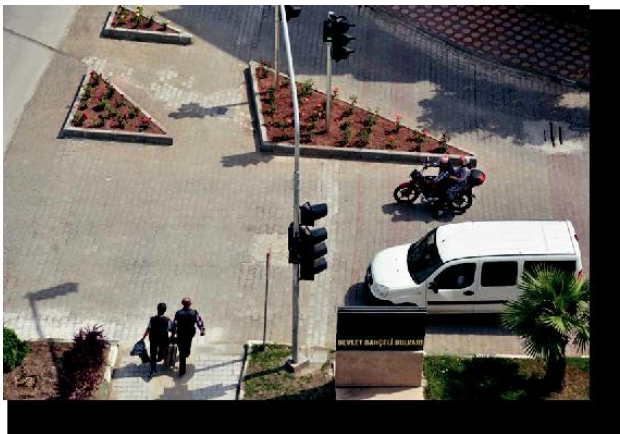

More Studies

On December 3, 2019, 10 awards were awarded in 7 branches, including health, education, housing, transportation, culture and art, public service buildings and participation in social life in order to raise awareness about accessibility in the program organized with the theme "Accessibility for All" on 3 December 2019. In addition, accessibility awards are scheduled to be awarded by the General Directorate every year on December 3rd.

An accessibility guide has been prepared to support accessibility standards with more images such as drawings and animations. The guide will guide architects and engineers, especially during the planning and design phase, and can also be used as a resource in universities.

Cooperation is continuing with the General Directorate of Nature Conservation and National Parks of the Ministry of Agriculture and Forestry and the accessibility of national parks, nature parks and wetlands and the applications that can be made in these areas. After receiving the views of disabled and elderly non-governmental organizations, studies are carried out on accessibility arrangements in designated pilot areas and projects related to the areas of activity that can be organized for the disabled and elderly.

Disabled people, the elderly and children, together with other sections of society without discrimination, independently and safely to benefit from recreation facilities, and in the event of disaster, these green areas can be used by disabled people and other individuals with mobility restrictions within the scope of efforts to make the nation's gardens accessible are being cooperated with the relevant institutions. As general directorate, local studies are provided to ensure accessibility in the national gardens, which are completed and carried out as general directorates, and guidance is provided to the relevant institutions.

As a result, we're going to have to Accessibility is vital for people with disabilities and other mobility restrictions to act independently and safely in urban living spaces and to make full use of all areas of social life. Accessibility legislation must be implemented in all necessary areas, which are the prerequisites for benefiting from all other rights. It should be noted that in this construction, individuals can be mentioned in fully accessible living spaces by accessing all areas and services, from their residences to education and health buildings, public transport to information and communication technologies.

Eliminating all obstacles that make individuals disabled and making the necessary arrangements, especially municipalities; it is the duty of local governments, public institutions and institutions and all interested parties. Accessibility is a necessity for the disabled, and when we add the elderly to it, it's a necessity for a significant part of society and a comfortable life for everyone.

Because "Accessibility is for everyone"...
